Boosted or Busted...

We are about to hit the turn in MCAL league play, and all teams will be focused on making their perspective playoff pushes, be it for MCAL or NCS. With NCS removing the need to be .500 this season we could see all nine MCAL teams in post-season play of some kind, but that's assuming anybody has enough players to play.

Positive tests, close contacts, and the continuous redefining of quarantining rules has heads spinning and the league schedule in disarray right now. Multiple games were postponed this past week, and the new policies threaten to postpone many more as we move deeper into January. Even if you test negative, if you happen to be sitting next to somebody in a classroom that tests positive you become a close contact, and if you fall into that category and are not two weeks past your booster shot, you move into modified quarantine, meaning you can't participate in athletics for five days. Interestingly you can still attend classes for those five days, though by the time I write this that may have changed...

What is certain in this constantly changing environment is that players will be missing games right and left, and having your full compliment of players for a match will be a luxury, not the standard. The hope is we can keep the games moving along, keep these kids playing as the continue to cope with the impact COVID has had on their relatively short lives. There may be surprising results along the way as some teams are hit harder than others, but keeping the games going should be all that matters.

If games continue to be postponed it is very possible the MCAL playoffs could get canceled this year to allow an extra week to finish league play. Hopefully other solutions would be considered first if it comes to that, like expanding playoffs to include all teams and using PPG to determine seeding if teams have played an unequal amount of games.

Whatever path the rest of the MCAL season takes, the real tragedy would be a team qualifying for NCS, then players or teams not being able to participate because of close-contact rules. The county has made it clear that it is boosted or busted, so if you want to give yourself the best chance of avoiding a situation where another person's test results could rule you out, getting boosted is your only option...
