At The Turn

We have reached the midway point of the MCAL regular season, and now begins the final push for playoff spots, both MCAL and NCS. Every result from here on out becomes that much more important for those teams searching for some kind of post-season play.

Tam, having finished the first half of the season unblemished has built a seven point lead at the top, and it would be hard to imagine them surrendering that lead based on the way that they have played through the first half. Tam currently leads the league in goals per game, and fewest goals allowed. Their depth has been a real key to their success, with twelve different players finding the back of the net, and six different players recording game-winning goals in the first half of the season.

Branson, Marin Catholic, and Redwood are best positioned to fight it out for second place, which comes with the other home game in the playoffs. Redwood will host Branson on Tuesday, with the winner securing the tie-breaker over the other should they finish level at the end of the season.

Terra Linda are on the outside looking in at the moment, but have shown the capability to play the top teams very tough, and will look to force their way into the MCAL playoffs with a strong second half of the season. Needing only one draw vs D3 opponents to secure NCS eligibility, the Trojans will be playing in the post-season at some level.

Drake, San Marin, and San Rafael will all need to secure important D3 results to become NCS eligible, with the games against each other of the utmost importance.
